The Ranch at Rocky Creek Philipsburg

If you follow the highway southwest from Missoula for just under two hours, you will arrive at the tiny outpost of Philipsburg, Montana and the Ranch at Rock Creek. Under a blanket of endless blue sky, you can enjoy the slow pace of cowboy country in a setting of pristine beauty and the surrounding untouched wilderness. One of the most appealing aspects for honeymoon couples is the property's unique layout. With 27 rooms, you can choose to stay in the nine-suite Granite Lodge, the five-bedroom Bear House, or the three-bedroom River House. The ranch offers four family tents and four singles tents, but many couples opt for the Trapper Deluxe Tent, a unique half cabin, and half tent single accommodation complete with private hot tub. The final choice is the 1,000-square foot Bluebird Cabin, featuring a single bedroom, mini-spa with large front and back decks.

The largest building, the Granite Lodge, offers an expansive dining facility, full kitchen, four-lane bowling alley, movie theater, a spa and the Silver Dollar Saloon. No matter which accommodation level you choose, you will be ensconced in beautiful western décor, featuring antique furnishings that match the natural beauty of southern Montana. The Ranch offers a 2,000-square foot, full-service, five-treatment room spa for guests to relax and indulge in after a long day of outdoor activities, and there are activities aplenty. The Ranch at Rock Creek is a fully functioning ranch, where guests can spend days or weeks fly fishing, horseback riding, hiking, wildlife viewing, bowling or mountain biking. Come home each evening to dine on Executive Chef Josh Drage's cuisine of grass-fed beef, complimented by an extensive selection of fine wines from around the globe.

Every season offers something different at the Ranch at Rock Creek; winter's cross country snow shoeing to summer's bright foliage, every moment is as exciting and memorable as the next.
